Questioned document examination 02 was the ASTM In forensic science, questioned document examination (QDE) is the examination of documents potentially disputed in a court of law. Evidence might include alterations, the chain of possession, damage to the document, forgery, origin, authenticity, or other questions that come up when a document is challenged in court. Its primary purpose is to provide evidence about a suspicious or questionable document using scientific processes and methods. Criminals often wear gloves to avoid leaving fingerprints, which makes the investigation of crimes more difficult. Although the gloves act as a protective covering for the wearer's prints, the gloves themselves can leave prints that are sometimes unique like human fingerprints, thus betraying the wearer.
