Abiogenesis Unfavorable reactions can be driven by highly favorable ones, as in the case of Abiogenesis is the natural process by which life arises from non-living matter, such as simple organic compounds. and ocean waves. This has been confirmed by experiments and simulations. The prevailing scientific hypothesis is that the transition from non-living to living entities on Earth was not a single event, but a process of increasing complexity involving the formation of a habitable planet, the prebiotic synthesis of organic molecules, molecular self-replication, self-assembly, autocatalysis, and the emergence of cell membranes. The transition from non-life to life has not been observed experimentally, but many proposals have been made for different stages of the process
