damage. Base damage is mostly indirect and caused by the reactive oxygen species generated, e. , O_2^- (superoxide radical), OH (hydroxyl radical) and H_2O_2 (hydrogen peroxide). Thus, oxidative stress can cause. Disturbances in the normal redox state of cells can cause toxic effects through the production of peroxides and free radicals that damage all components of the cell, including proteins, lipids, and DNA. Oxidative stress from oxidative metabolism causes base damage, as well as strand breaks in DNA. g. Further, some reactive oxidative species act as cellular messengers in redox signaling

Idea lab Village pump (technical) archive It can be generated using WPCleaner by any user. It's possible to update this page by following the procedure below: Guide to deletion Koch's postulates have been modified by some epidemiologists, based on the sequence-based detection of distinctive pathogenic nucleic acid sequences in tissue samples. When using this method, absolute statements regarding causation are not always possible. Higher amounts of distinctive pathogenic nucleic acid sequences should be in those exhibiting disease, compared to controls. In addition, the DNA load should become lower with the resolution of the disease. The distinctive pathogenic nucleic acid sequences load should also increase...

Pulmonary aspiration

ISBN 978-0071840613. New York, NY:

McGraw-Hill. Sheperd Pulmonary

aspiration is the entry of solid or liquid material such as pharyngeal secretions, food, drink, or stomach contents from the oropharynx or gastrointestinal tract, into the trachea and lungs. When pulmonary aspiration occurs during eating and drinking, the aspirated material is often colloquially referred to as "going down the wrong pipe". Lucia, Dominic (2017).
