Competition (economics) will be successful in the global market, including but not limited to managerial decision making, labor, capital, and transportation costs, reinvestment In economics, competition is a scenario where different economic firms are in contention to obtain goods that are limited by varying the elements of the marketing mix: price, product, promotion and place. The greater the selection of a good is in the market, the lower prices for the products typically are, compared to what the price would be if there was no competition (monopoly) or little competition (oligopoly). In classical economic thought, competition causes commercial firms to develop new products, services and technologies, which would give consumers greater selection and better products
