Conscience Oxford University Press, New York. 4th ed. Emmanuel Levinas A conscience is a cognitive process that elicits emotion and rational associations based on an individual's moral philosophy or value system. Conscience is not an elicited emotion or thought produced by associations based on immediate sensory perceptions and reflexive responses, as in sympathetic central nervous system responses. 1994 pp. 478–79. Beauchamp TL and Childress JF. Principles of Biomedical Ethics. 131–38. pp. The extent to which conscience informs moral judgment before an action and whether such moral judgments are or should be based on reason has occasioned debate through much of modern history between theories of basics in ethic of human life in juxtaposition to the theories of romanticism and other reactionary movements. In common terms, conscience is often described as leading to feelings of remorse when a person commits an act that conflicts with their moral values 029358f6d4
