Natal astrology is found in the Indian, Chinese, Hellenistic and Western astrological traditions. Natal astrology, also known as genethliac astrology or genethliology, is a system of astrology that claims to shed light on an individual's personality or path in life based on constructing a horoscope or natal chart that includes the exact date, time, and location of an individual's birth. includes the exact date, time, and location of an individual's birth.

Where astrology has made falsifiable predictions, it has been falsified. The most famous test was headed by Shawn Carlson and included a committee of scientists and a committee of astrologers. It led to the conclusion that natal astrology performed no better than chance. Astrologers do not agree upon exact dates for the beginning or ending of the ages, with given dates varying by hundreds of years. A horoscope illustrates the positions of the Sun, Moon, planets, Ascendant, Midheaven, Descendant and Immum Coeli as well as the aspects or angles between them. Interpretation includes noting the placement and significance of important features. Chart Weighting analyzes Zodiac Signs and Houses. Chart Shaping analyzes planetary aspect patterns. Most, if not all, cultures have attached importance to what they observed in the sky, and some—such as the Hindus, Chinese, and the Maya—developed elaborate systems for predicting terrestrial events from celestial observations.
