Inquiry-based learning approach to science education: Disciplinary Core Ideas (DCIs), Science and Engineering Practices (SEPs), and Cross Cutting Concepts (CCCs). The standards Inquiry-based learning (also spelled as enquiry-based learning in British English) is a form of active learning that starts by posing questions, problems or scenarios. Inquiry-based learning includes problem-based learning, and is generally used in small-scale investigations and projects, as well as research. Inquiry-based learning is often assisted by a facilitator rather than a lecturer. It contrasts with traditional education, which generally relies on the teacher presenting facts and their knowledge about the subject. The inquiry-based instruction is principally very closely related to the development and practice of thinking and problem-solving skills. Inquirers will identify and research issues and questions to develop knowledge or solutions
