Multilingualism People who speak several languages are also called polyglots. More than half of all Europeans claim to speak at least one language other than their mother tongue, but many read and write in one language. The House on Mango Street by Sandra Cisneros is an example of Chicano literature that leaves Spanish words and phrases. Multilingualism is the use of more than one language, either by an individual speaker or by a group of speakers. It is believed that multilingual speakers outnumber monolingual speakers in the world's population. Owing to the ease of access to information facilitated by the Internet, individuals' exposure to multiple languages has become increasingly possible. translations of non-English passages. Being multilingual is advantageous for people wanting to participate in trade, globalization and cultural openness. When the languages are just two, it is usually called bilingualism b2557ee8c5
