Michael Crichton John Michael Crichton (/ˈkraɪtən/; October 23, 1942 – November 4, 2008) was an American author, screenwriter and filmmaker. Crichton's novels often explore human technological advancement and attempted dominance over nature, both with frequently catastrophic results; many of his works are cautionary tales, especially regarding themes of biotechnology. His literary works heavily feature technology and are usually within the science fiction, techno-thriller, and medical fiction genres. Several of his stories center on themes of genetic modification, hybridization, paleontology and/or zoology. His books have sold over 200 million copies worldwide, and over a dozen have been adapted into films
