History of underwater diving In the 16th and 17th centuries diving bells became functionally useful when a renewable supply of air could be provided to the diver at depth, and progressed to surface-supplied diving helmets—in effect miniature diving bells covering. Military diving also has a long history, going back at least as far as the Peloponnesian War, with recreational and sporting applications being a recent development. By classical Greek and Roman times commercial applications such as sponge diving and marine salvage were established. the combat swimmers of the Decima Flottiglia MAS, especially the Pirelli ARO which was used effectively in World War II. During the 1930s and all through The history of underwater diving starts with freediving as a widespread means of hunting and gathering, both for food and other valuable resources such as pearls and coral. Technological development in ambient pressure diving started with stone weights (skandalopetra) for fast descent
