Clandestine chemistry Uncle Fester is a writer who commonly writes about Clandestine chemistry is chemistry carried out in secret, and particularly in illegal drug laboratories. and acetone peroxide are easiest to produce due to the ease with which the precursors can be acquired. Smaller labs can be run by individual chemists working clandestinely in order to synthesize smaller amounts of controlled substances or simply out of a hobbyist interest in chemistry, often because of the difficulty in ascertaining the purity of other, illegally synthesized drugs obtained on the black market. Larger labs are usually run by gangs or organized crime intending to produce for distribution on the black market. The term clandestine lab is generally used in any situation involving the production of illicit compounds, regardless of whether the facilities being used qualify as a true laboratory e77758822d

Around the same time, Japanese organic chemist Nagai Nagayoshi isolated ephedrine from the Chinese ephedra plant and later developed a method for ephedrine synthesis. Methamphetamine was synthesized from ephedrine in 1893 by Nagayoshi. Amphetamine and methamphetamine are central nervous system stimulants used to treat a variety of conditions. When used recreationally, they are colloquially known as "speed" or sometimes "crank". Neither drug had
