DNA methylation may be bound by proteins known as methyl-CpG-binding domain proteins (MBDs). In mammals, DNA methylation is essential for normal development and is associated with a number of key processes including genomic imprinting, X-chromosome inactivation, repression of transposable elements, aging, and carcinogenesis. When located in a gene promoter, DNA methylation typically acts to repress gene transcription. MBD proteins then recruit additional proteins to the locus, such as histone DNA methylation is a biological process by which methyl groups are added to the DNA molecule. Methylation can change the activity of a DNA segment without changing the sequence
