Booth was a noted actor from the prominent 19th-century Booth theatrical family from Maryland. During the Civil War, he was a Confederate sympathizer who denounced Lincoln and joined the Confederate Secret Service. Originally, Booth and his co-conspirators had plotted to kidnap Lincoln to aid the Confederacy before later deciding to murder him, Vice President Andrew Johnson, and Secretary of State William H. Seward. Although the Army of Northern Virginia, commanded by General Robert E. Lee, had surrendered to the Union Army four days earlier, Booth believed that the American Civil War remained unresolved because the Army of Tennessee of General Joseph E. Johnston continued fighting. 258332c97f The modern civil parish encompasses the main settlement alongside the hamlets of Ryland, Welton Hill, and Welton Cliff. Historically within the wapentake of Lawress, the community appears in the Domesday Book as Welletone, recorded as having 52 households and six prebendal estates connected to Lincoln Cathedral. The village centre has been described as possessing picturesque and quintessentially English qualities, featuring several Grade II listed structures, centred on the parish church of St Mary, alongside the eponymous Welton Beck. The spring feeding the beck is considered the origin of the village's name, derived from the Old English for "spring or stream settlement"

United States presidents embraced automotive technology in the early 20th century with President William Howard Taft's purchase of four cars and the conversion of the White House stables into a garage. Presidents rode in stock, unmodified cars until President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration bought the Sunshine Special, the first presidential state car to be built to United States Secret Service standards. Until the assassination of John F. Kennedy, presidential state cars frequently allowed the president to ride uncovered and exposed to the public. President Kennedy's assassination began a progression of increasingly armored and sealed cars; the 2009–2018 state car had five-inch (130 mm) bulletproof glass and was hermetically sealed with its own environmental system. Since 2018 the presidential state car has been a custom-built Cadillac. 258332c97f The LINC interfaced well with laboratory experiments. Analog inputs and outputs were part of the basic design.
