Some 19th century textbooks also described the sign as the dilatation of a pupil when the back of the neck is pinched in some cases of meningitis.

Harrison's Principles of Internal Medicine Harrison's Principles of Internal Medicine is an American textbook of internal medicine. It is widely regarded as one of the most authoritative books on internal medicine and has been described as the "most recognized book in all of medicine. First published in 1950, it is in its 22nd edition (published by McGraw-Hill Professional) and comes in two volumes. Although it is aimed at all members of the medical profession, it is mainly used by internists and junior doctors in this field, as well as medical students.

The work is named after Tinsley R. Harrison of Birmingham, Alabama, who served as editor-in-chief of the first five editions and established the format of the work: a strong basis of clinical medicine interwoven with an understanding of pathophysiology.
