Adult development The map is made of a four-column worksheet that guides a process of self-reflective inquiry. Stage theories typically focus on "age-appropriate" developmental tasks to be achieved at each stage. Changes occur at the cellular level and are partially explained by biological theories of adult development and aging. The book An Everyone Adult development encompasses the changes that occur in biological and psychological domains of human life from the end of adolescence until the end of one's life. Biological changes influence psychological and interpersonal/social developmental changes, which are often described by stage theories of human development. Erik Erikson and Carl Jung proposed stage theories of human development that encompass the entire life span, and emphasized the potential for positive change very late in life. to further psychological development d8f8f8b2af
