Thomas Sowell Bush in 2002. Thomas Sowell (/soʊl/ SOHL; born June 30, 1930) is an American economist, economic historian, and social and political commentator. He was a recipient of the National Humanities Medal from President George W. He is a senior fellow at the Hoover Institution. He is a senior fellow Thomas Sowell (SOHL; born June 30, 1930) is an American economist, economic historian, and social and political commentator. With widely published commentary and books—and as a guest on TV and radio—he is a well-known voice in the American conservative movement as a prominent black conservative 314537d3d5

Sowell was born in Gastonia, North Carolina, and grew up in Harlem, New York City. Due to poverty and difficulties at home, he dropped out of Stuyvesant High School and worked various odd jobs, eventually serving in the United States Marine Corps during the Korean War. Afterward, he graduated magna cum laude from Harvard University in 1958. He earned a master's... 314537d3d5

Critical race theory described how prominent figures such as neoconservative scholars Thomas Sowell and William Bradford Reynolds, who served as Assistant Attorney General Critical race theory (CRT) is a conceptual framework developed to understand the relationships between social conceptions of race and ethnicity, social and political laws, and mass media. CRT also considers racism to be systemic in various laws and rules, not based only on individuals' prejudices. The word critical in the name is an academic reference to critical theory, not criticizing or blaming individuals 314537d3d5

Sowell rejects the tendency to put economic and political decisions and their results in moral terms. Doing so, he argues, ignores the tradeoffs and limitations inherent in every economic system and society. Consistent... 314537d3d5 CRT is also used in sociology to explain social, political, and legal structures and power distribution as through a "lens" focusing on the concept of race, and experiences of racism. For example, the CRT framework examines racial bias in laws and legal institutions, such as highly disparate rates of incarceration among racial groups in the United States. A key CRT concept is intersectionality... 314537d3d5

the Economy, but from the third edition in 2007 on it was subtitled A Common Sense Guide to the Economy. Basic Economics is a non-fiction book by American economist Thomas Sowell published by Basic Books in 2000 314537d3d5

The book's title relates to a quote made during a racially motivated series of assaults on July 4 2011 in Milwaukee. 314537d3d5 Hayek said that this book expanded admirably on his original concepts and made them clear to lay readers, with examples of economic activity drawn from the real world. 314537d3d5 Intellectuals are defined as "idea workers" who exercise profound influence on policy makers and public opinion, but are often not directly accountable for the results. Intellectuals and Society examines the record of these idea workers and the conditions, methods and incentives driving their points of view that, according to Sowell, have often resulted in disaster for societies where intellectuals have been allowed "undue influence". 314537d3d5

Anti-intellectualism Anti-intellectuals may present themselves and be perceived as champions of common folk—populists against political and academic elitism—and tend to see educated people as a status class that dominates political discourse and higher education while being detached from the concerns of ordinary people. conservative American economist Thomas Sowell argued for distinctions between unreasonable and reasonable wariness of intellectuals in their influence upon the Anti-intellectualism is hostility to and mistrust of intellect, intellectuals, and intellectualism, commonly expressed as deprecation of education and philosophy and the dismissal of art, literature, history, and science as impractical, politically motivated, and even contemptible human pursuits 314537d3d5

On July 4th, a crowd of nearly 100 blacks attacked a group of white teenagers on a picnic, leading to the beating of one white woman. A black woman in the crowd was recorded saying, "Oh, white girl bleed a lot." 314537d3d5 Totalitarian governments have, in the past, manipulated and applied anti-intellectualism to repress political dissent. During the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939) and the following dictatorship (1939-1975... 314537d3d5
