Double negative 1762, when Bishop Robert Lowth wrote A Short Introduction to English Grammar with Critical Notes. Lithuanian, Portuguese, Persian, French, Russian,. In some languages, double negatives cancel one another and produce an affirmative; in other languages, doubled negatives intensify the negation. Languages where multiple negatives affirm each other are said to have negative concord or emphatic negation. This is typically used to convey a different shade of meaning from a strictly positive sentence ("You're not unattractive" vs "You're attractive"). Multiple negation is the more general term referring to the occurrence of more than one negative in a clause. For instance, 'I don't disagree' could mean 'I certainly agree'. A double negative is a construction occurring when two forms of grammatical negation are used in the same sentence
