The album received the 2006 Juno Award for the Contemporary Christian/Gospel Album of the Year. Of the background and recording of Apple, and of its predecessor 7G, Cook spoke with The Recording Academy in September 2020, stating: After recording their first album, Welcome to the Beautiful South (1989), as a five-piece, they were joined by a succession of female vocalists; Briana Corrigan from 1990 to 1992, Jacqui Abbott from 1993 to 2000, and Alison Wheeler from 2003 to the band's split in 2007. The Cook Islands is self-governing while in free association with New Zealand. Since the start of the 21st century, the country has conducted its own independent foreign and defence policy, and also its own customs regulations. Like most members of the Pacific Islands Forum, the country has no armed forces, but the Cook Islands Police Service owns a Guardian Class Patrol Boat, CIPPB Te Kukupa II, provided by Australia, for policing its waters. In recent decades, the Cook Islands has adopted an increasingly assertive and distinct foreign policy, and a Cook Islander, Henry Puna, served as Secretary General of the Pacific Islands Forum from 2021 to 2024. Most Cook Islanders have New Zealand citizenship, plus the status of Cook Islands nationals, which is not given to other New Zealand... The album was supported by the singles "Lifeline", "Oh Yeah", "Xxoplex", and "Beautiful Superstar". The album cover was designed by graphic designer and frequent PC Music visual collaborator, Timothy Luke.
