Technical writer computer, allowed technical writers to work in other areas, producing "user manuals, quick reference guides, hardware installation manuals, and cheat sheets A technical writer is a professional communicator whose task is to convey complex information in simple terms to an audience of the general public or a very select group of readers. In most organizations, a technical writer serves as a trained expert in technical writing and not as an expert in their field of employment. Technical writers generally acquire necessary industry terminology and field or product knowledge on the job, through working with Subject-Matter Experts (SMEs) and their own internal document research. Technical writers research and create information through a variety of delivery media (electronic, printed, audio-visual, and even touch). This, of course, does not mean technical writers aren't expected to have, at the very least, a basic understanding of their subject matter cabdf4cd6e
