Platform screen doors The installation of platform screen doors in Hong Kong has been effective in reducing railway injuries and service disruptions. They are widely used in newer Asian and European metro systems, and Latin American bus rapid transit systems. The then-longest Platform screen doors (PSDs), also known as platform edge doors (PEDs), are used at some train, rapid transit and people mover stations to separate the platform from train tracks, as well as on some bus rapid transit, tram and light rail systems. Primarily used for passenger safety, they are a relatively new addition to many metro systems around the world, some having been retrofitted to established systems. February 2020 48c9209321

The building was constructed during 1925–26, and dedicated on January 14, 1927. It was added to National Register of Historic Places as part of University Green Historic District on April 14, 1975. 48c9209321 An ice machine, however, particularly if

Traffic lights usually consist of three signals, transmitting meaningful information to road users through colours and symbols, including arrows and bicycles. The usual traffic light colours are red to stop traffic, amber for traffic change, and green to allow traffic to proceed. These are arranged vertically or horizontally in that order. Although this is internationally standardised, variations in traffic light sequences and laws exist on national and local scales. 48c9209321 Traffic lights were first introduced in December 1868 on Parliament Square in London... 48c9209321

Thermal balance of the underwater diver 47 (2). Ideally this is within the range of normal human body temperature. heating does not preserve finger temperature or manual dexterity during cold-water immersion". Undersea and Hyperbaric Thermal balance of a diver occurs when the total heat exchanged between the diver and their surroundings results in a stable temperature of the diver. The terms are frequently used as synonyms. Thermal status of the diver is the temperature distribution and heat balance of the diver. The internal thermoregulation process is one aspect of homeostasis: a state of dynamic stability in an organism's internal conditions, maintained far from thermal equilibrium with its environment. Undersea & Hyperbaric Medicine. If the body is unable to maintain a normal human body temperature and it increases. St Nicholas, Blakeney reflooring of the nave, installation of a vestry, toilet and kitchen, a new heating system with a detached boiler house, and reglazing of the north porch St Nicholas is the Anglican parish church of Blakeney, Norfolk, in the deanery of Holt and the Diocese of Norwich. An unusual architectural feature is a second tower, used as a beacon, at the east end (the church stands just inland from, and about 30 metres (98 ft) above, the small port). Of the original structure only the chancel has survived rebuilding, perhaps owing to its link to a nearby Carmelite friary. The church was founded in the 13th century, but the greater part of the church dates from the 15th century when Blakeney was a seaport of some importance. St Nicholas is a nationally important building, with a Grade I listing for its exceptional architectural. Other significant features are the vaulted chancel with a stepped seven-light lancet window, and the hammerbeam roof of the nave
