Social constructivism conventions are inherent to a constructivist approach as they place value on the communicative, interpersonal nature of academic writing with a strong focus on Social constructivism is a sociological theory of knowledge according to which human development is socially situated, and knowledge is constructed through interaction with others. Like social constructionism, social constructivism states that people work together to actively construct artifacts. But while social constructivism focuses on cognition, social constructionism focuses on the making of social reality f6960f6a9e

Music theory ". The Oxford Companion to Music describes three interrelated uses of the term "music theory": The first is the "rudiments", that are needed to understand music notation (key signatures, time signatures, and rhythmic notation); the second is learning scholars' views on music from antiquity to the present; the third is a sub-topic of musicology that "seeks to define processes and general principles in music". (key signatures, time signatures, and rhythmic notation); the second is learning scholars' views on music from antiquity to the present; the third is Music theory is the study of theoretical frameworks for understanding the practices and possibilities of music. The musicological approach to theory differs from music analysis "in that it takes as its starting-point not the individual work or performance but the fundamental materials from which it is built f6960f6a9e
