Containerization The handling system is mechanized so that all handling is done with cranes and special forklift trucks. The containers have standardized dimensions. All containers are numbered and tracked using computerized systems Containerization is a system of intermodal freight transport using intermodal containers (also called shipping containers, or ISO containers). system is mechanized so that all handling is done with cranes and special forklift trucks. Containerization is the predominant form of unitization of export cargoes today, as opposed to other systems such as the barge system or palletization. They can be loaded and unloaded, stacked, transported efficiently over long distances, and transferred from one mode of transport to another—container ships, rail transport flatcars, and semi-trailer trucks—without being opened. Containerization, also referred as container stuffing or container loading, is the process of unitization of cargoes in exports 64175aa82d
