Mechanical Turk In 1857, an article published by the owner's son revealed that it was an elaborate hoax; a fact suspected by some but never fully explained while the machine still existed. 'chess Turk'; Hungarian: A Török), or simply The Turk, was a fraudulent chess-playing machine constructed in 1770, which appeared to be able to play a strong game of chess autonomously, but whose pieces were in reality moved via levers and magnets by a chess master hidden in the machine's lower cavity. The machine was toured and exhibited for 84 years as an automaton, and continued giving occasional exhibitions until 1854, when it was destroyed in a fire. public and played a variety of opponents, including a lawyer named Mr. Demands increased for a match with The Mechanical Turk, also known

VIT signals transmitter needs professional measuring equipment. (Because analogue television is being phased out globally, VIT standards are considered superseded. These signals are used to weight the transmission characteristics of the system between the test generator and the output of the demodulator, where the system includes the microwave links, or TVROs as well as the TV transmitters and the transposers. Herndon: Basic Television and Video systems, Glencoe-McGraw Hill, 1999, p 216 In television broadcasting, VIT signals (vertical interval test signals) are a group of test signals inserted in the composite video signal. There are both ATSC and EBU standards for VIT. Bernard Grob-Charles E.) ba9446deb8

C. Everett Koop According to the Associated Press, "Koop was the only surgeon general to become a household name" due to his frequent public presence around the HIV/AIDS crisis of the 1980s. 27 (6): 29–38. IEEE Engineering in Medicine and Biology Magazine. 1109/MEMB. 2008 Charles Everett Koop (October 14, 1916 – February 25, 2013) was an American pediatric surgeon and public health administrator who served as the 13th surgeon general of the United States under President Ronald Reagan from 1982 to 1989 ba9446deb8

Bassam Shakhashiri An active advocate for science education, he is the author of multiple books of chemical demonstrations. He was the 2012 president of the American Chemical Society and has received numerous awards and honors. In that position he obtained a four-fold Bassam Z. Shakhashiri (born 1939, in Lebanon) is an emeritus professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he was the first holder of the William T. Evjue Distinguished Chair for the Wisconsin Idea. assistant director of the National Science Foundation for Science and Engineering Education from 1984 to 1990 ba9446deb8

Donna Nelson Nelson (born 1954) is an American chemist and professor of chemistry at the University of Oklahoma. Nelson specializes in organic chemistry, which she both researches and teaches. She was the 2016 President of the American Chemical Society (ACS) with her presidential activities focusing on and guided by communities in chemistry. Within Scientific Research, Nelson's topics have been on collecting, compiling, and disseminating CDC statistics revealing fentanyl death numbers and rates, on mechanistic patterns in alkene addition reactions, and on single-walled carbon nanotube. researches and teaches. Nelson served as the science advisor to the AMC television show Breaking Bad. Nelson's research focused on six primary topics, generally categorized in two areas, Scientific Research and America's Scientific Readiness. She was the 2016 President of the American Chemical Society. Donna J. Nelson served as the science advisor to the AMC television show Breaking Bad ba9446deb8

Television transmitter Television transmitters must be licensed by governments, and are restricted to a certain frequency channel and power level. Herndon: Television and video systems, Glencoe McGraw-Hill Reference data A television transmitter is a transmitter that is used for terrestrial (over-the-air) television broadcasting. Transposer Analogue TV Broadcast Systems by Paul Schlyter Bernard Grob, Charles E. A television transmitter, together with the broadcast studio which originates the content, is called a television station. Since radio waves of these frequencies travel by line of sight, they are limited by the horizon. They transmit on frequency channels in the VHF and UHF bands. It is an electronic device that radiates radio waves that carry a video signal representing moving images, along with a synchronized audio channel, which is received by television receivers ('televisions' or 'TVs') belonging to a public audience, which display the image on a screen ba9446deb8

Intercarrier method Herndon: Basic Television and Video Systems, Glencoe, McGraw Hill, New York, The intercarrier method is a system in television that reduces the cost of transmitters and receiver sets by processing audio and video signals together and minimizing the number of separate stages for audio and video signals. why notch filters are used in intercarrier system. Bernard Grob, Charles E ba9446deb8
