All Along the Watchtower The song was written by Dylan and produced by Bob Johnston. Dylan has released several different live performances, and versions of the song are included on some of his subsequent greatest hits compilations. The song has been subject to various interpretations; some reviewers have noted that it echoes lines in the Book of Isaiah, Chapter 21, verses 5–9. The song's lyrics, which in its original version contain twelve lines, feature a conversation between a joker and a thief. The song was written "All Along the Watchtower" is a song by American singer-songwriter Bob Dylan from his eighth studio album, John Wesley Harding (1967). Australian-born Diana Trask went to the United States in 1958 and launched her career as a pop singer. After making two albums for Columbia Records and appearing on Sing Along with Mitch, she reinvented herself as a country recording artist beginning with her first singles for the genre in 1968. She reached her peak commercial success in the seventies with several US top 20 country songs such as "Say When" and "Lean It All on Me". Trask recalled in her memoir that she attempted to find a new record producer in an effort to have a new musical sound. 034829706c Many reviewers were surprised at how lacking in bitterness Slahi was since he had been subjected to brutal torture. 034829706c == About == 034829706c

Scoundrel Days: A Memoir This is dirty realism at its dirtiest. Described as "a gritty, Gen X memoir, recounting wild escapades into an under-culture of drugs and violence and sex by ABC Radio National and by the publisher as "Tom Sawyer on acid, a 21st-century On the Road, a Holden Caulfield for punks", literary critic Rohan Wilson compared Frazer's ability to shock, surprise and unsettle with that of Marcel Duchamp, concluding: "Frazer is writing here in the tradition of Helen Garner, Andrew McGahan and Nick Earls.
