Civil defense civil contingency, civil aid and civil protection. Civil-defense structures became widespread after authorities recognised the threats posed by nuclear weapons. Some countries treat civil defense as a key part of defense in general. Programs of this sort were initially discussed at least as early as the 1920s and were implemented in some countries during the 1930s as the threat of war and aerial bombardment grew. It uses the principles of emergency management: prevention, mitigation, preparation, response, or emergency evacuation and recovery. For example, total defence Civil defense or civil protection is an effort to protect the citizens of a state (generally non-combatants) from human-made and natural disasters 1d1f2ed5a7
