Originally, Dutch barges were sailing craft with wooden hulls. Today, while few wooden examples remain, there are many steel barges that are 100 years old or more. Although most Dutch barges have been converted to motor-propulsion, schuyt sailing contests are still held on the IJsselmeer and on the Wadden Sea (Waddenzee). Dutch barges have become popular live-aboard leisure craft, and brand-new "Dutch-style" examples continue to be built.

An example is the verb have in the sentence I have finished my lunch. Concerning the use of coger as an auxiliary in Spanish, see for instance <https://chimichurris1ba>. Here, the auxiliary have helps to express the perfect aspect along with the participle, finished. Auxiliary verbs are also called helping verbs, helper verbs, or (verbal) auxiliaries.
