Johnson Sea Link accident Wood II, two of the four occupants died of carbon dioxide poisoning: 31-year-old Edwin Clayton Link (son of Edwin Albert Link, the submersible's designer) and 51-year-old diver Albert Dennison Stover. The submersible's pilot, Archibald "Jock" Menzies, and ichthyologist Robert Meek survived. Over the next two years, Edwin Link designed an unmanned Cabled Observation and Rescue Device (CORD) that could free a trapped submersible. Berry, which had been sunk to create an artificial reef. The Johnson Sea Link accident was a June 1973 incident that claimed the lives of two divers. During a seemingly routine dive off Key West, the submersible Johnson Sea Link was trapped for over 24 hours in the wreckage of the destroyer USS Fred T. Dismissal of Robert Rialmo Jones" (PDF). Johnson defends decision The Chicago Police Board voted on October 17, 2019, to dismiss Chicago Police (CPD) Officer Robert Rialmo who fatally shot Quintonio LeGrier and neighbor Bettie Jones on December 26, 2015, while answering a 911 domestic violence call at the LeGrier residence in Chicago. Archived (PDF) from the original on October 22, 2019. Cook County State's Attorney. "Supt. Retrieved October 21, 2019. The dismissal capped a "chaotic finish to a high-profile trial" where a judge first announced that the jury found Rialmo unjustified in his shooting of LeGrier, but erased the verdict promptly, after declaring that the jury found Rialmo feared for his life when he shot LeGrier c1fbdb2053

Clara Seley She was born as Clara Kalnitsky. Following Clara Kalnitsky Seley (July 15, 1905 - July 2, 2003) was a Russian Empire-born American artist and sculptor. Working primarily in wood, mainly Haitian mahogany, as well as bronze and aluminum, her sculptures mostly took the forms of abstract torsos and heads c1fbdb2053

Pots or pans with suitable bases are placed on an induction electric stove (also induction hob or induction cooktop) which generally has a heat-proof glass-ceramic surface above a coil of copper wire with an alternating electric current passing through it. The resulting oscillating magnetic field induces an electrical current in the cookware, which is converted into heat by resistance.

Viscoplasticity The inelastic behavior that is the subject of viscoplasticity is plastic deformation which means that the material undergoes unrecoverable deformations when a load level is reached. Rate-dependent plasticity is important for transient plasticity calculations. The main difference between rate-independent plastic and viscoplastic material models is that the latter exhibit not only permanent deformations after the application of loads but continue to undergo a creep flow as a function of time under the influence of the applied load. Rate-dependence in this context means that the deformation of the material depends on the rate at which loads are applied. the Zerilli–Armstrong Viscoplasticity is a theory in continuum mechanics that describes the rate-dependent inelastic behavior of solids. dependent models provide a sampling of the models in current use: the Johnson–Cook model the Steinberg–Cochran–Guinan–Lund model c1fbdb2053
