Relationship between science and religion "Hindu perspectives". Since then the relationship between. Humans (Religions of the World and Ecology)" Center for the Study of World Religions (15 August 1998) Kak, Subhash (2005). The pair-structured phrases "religion and science" and "science and religion" first emerged in the literature during the 19th century. Even though the ancient and medieval worlds did not have conceptions resembling the modern understandings of "science" or of "religion", certain elements of modern ideas on the subject recur throughout history. This coincided with the refining of "science" (from the studies of "natural philosophy") and of "religion" as distinct concepts in the preceding few centuries—partly due to professionalization of the sciences, the Protestant Reformation, colonization, and globalization. In Mitcham The relationship between science and religion involves discussions that interconnect the study of the natural world, history, philosophy, and theology
