International Classification of Diseases adaptations of the ICD-10 progressed to incorporate both clinical code (ICD-10-CM) and procedure code (ICD-10-PCS) with the revisions completed in 2003. The ICD was originally designed as a health care classification system, providing a system of diagnostic codes for classifying diseases, including nuanced classifications of a wide variety of signs, symptoms, abnormal findings, complaints, social circumstances, and external causes of injury or disease. In The International Classification of Diseases (ICD) is a globally used medical classification that is used in epidemiology, health management and clinical diagnosis. This system is designed to map health conditions to corresponding generic categories together with specific variations; for these designated codes are assigned, each up to six. The ICD is maintained by the World Health Organization (WHO), which is the directing and coordinating authority for health within the United Nations System 07ee0539c6
