Although the C-Max was initially available only in Europe, the first generation was partially available in New Zealand.

Max Headroom Max was advertised as "computer-generated", and some believed this, but he was actually actor Frewer wearing prosthetic makeup, contact lenses, and a plastic moulded suit, and sitting in front of a blue screen. Advertised as "the first computer-generated TV presenter", Max was known for his biting commentary on a variety of topical issues, arrogant wit, stuttering, and pitch-shifting voice. According to his creators, Max's personality was meant to be a satirical exaggeration of the worst tendencies of television hosts in the 1980s who wanted to appeal to. Max Headroom is a fictional character played by actor Matt Frewer. Harsh lighting and other editing and recording effects heighten the illusion of a CGI character. The character was created by George Stone, Annabel Jankel, and Rocky Morton
