By a description of one of its founders, HCR was a "UNIX contract R&D and technology development and marketing firm." The company was most known for its extensive knowledge of Unix, for porting Unix to new hardware platforms, for developing compilers as part of the porting work, and for consulting and product development work on Unix. It was a pioneer in the Unix industry and by one account was the second firm ever to commercially support Unix. By 1990 HCR was a prominent player in the Canadian Unix scene. 1945b9dd94

Game theory Institute of Procurement & Supply (CIPS) promotes knowledge and use of game theory within the context of business procurement. In the 1950s, it was extended to the study of non zero-sum games, and was eventually applied to a wide range of behavioral relations. CIPS and TWS Partners have conducted Game theory is the study of mathematical models of strategic interactions. Initially, game theory addressed two-person zero-sum games, in which a participant's gains or losses are exactly balanced by the losses and gains of the other participant. It has applications in many fields of social science, and is used extensively in economics, logic, systems science and computer science. It is now an umbrella term for the science of rational decision making in humans, animals, and computers 1945b9dd94
