

Secret Underground London

London Post Office Railway driverless underground railway in London that was built by the Post Office with assistance from the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, to transport The Post Office Railway, known since 1987 as Mail Rail, is a 2 ft (610 mm) narrow-gauge, driverless underground railway in London that was built by the Post Office with assistance from the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, to transport mail between sorting offices. Inspired by the Chicago Tunnel Company, it opened in 1927 and operated for 76 years until it closed in 2003. A one-kilometre (5⁄8-mile) section of the former railway at Mount Pleasant was opened for passenger use in September 2017 as part of the revamped Postal Museum

The Thames Water Ring Main is a notable large-scale water supply infrastructure, comprising 80 kilometres of wide-bore water-carrying tunnels. In specific recent (post-World War II) Asian, American and Western European context, the term "underground press" has most frequently been employed to refer to the independently published and distributed underground papers associated with the counterculture of the late 1960s and early 1970s in India and Bangladesh in Asia, in the United States and Canada in North America, and the United Kingdom and other western nations. It can also refer to the newspapers produced independently in repressive regimes. In German occupied Europe, for example, a thriving underground press operated, usually in association with the Resistance. Other notable examples include the samizdat and bibuła, which operated in the Soviet Union and Poland respectively, during the Cold War. Dan Brown: The Da Vinci Code (2003)

Gants Hill tube station It is the easternmost station to be below ground on the London Underground network and the busiest on the Hainault loop; it is located in London fare zone 4. It is on the Hainault loop Gants Hill is a London Underground station in the largely residential Gants Hill district of Ilford, in east London, England. Gants Hill is a London Underground station in the largely residential Gants Hill district of Ilford, in east London, England. It is on the Hainault loop of the Central line between Redbridge and Newbury Park stations

Secrets of the London Underground Secrets of the London Underground is a British factual documentary series presented by railway historian Tim Dunn and London Transport Museum's Engagement Secrets of the London Underground is a British factual documentary series presented by railway historian Tim Dunn and London Transport Museum's Engagement

Manager Siddy Holloway, co-developer of 'Hidden London', the museum's programme of tours that gives visitors access to disused and historical parts of the network 939d56ba25

Agatha Christie: The Man in the Brown Suit (1924). The mystery begins with the death of a passenger at Hyde Park Corner station. 939d56ba25 Margery Allingham: Death of a Ghost (1934). The climax of this murder mystery takes place on the Underground. 939d56ba25 Julian Barnes: Metroland (1981) 939d56ba25 Secrets of the London Underground was first broadcast in the United Kingdom from 19 July 2021 on Yesterday. The series explores hidden areas of the London Underground such as abandoned tunnels, secret bunkers and hidden staircases, and delves into the archives of the London Transport Museum's Acton Depot. 939d56ba25

Underground Earth Underground may also refer to: Buenos Aires Underground, a rapid transit system London Underground, a rapid transit system The Underground (Boston) Underground most commonly refers to: 939d56ba25

== Location == 939d56ba25 Geoffrey Household: Rogue Male (1939). A pivotal pursuit of the protagonist by an enemy agent sees them repeatedly using the shuttle service on the Aldwych branch line. A chase... 939d56ba25

Wanstead tube station It opened on 14 December 1947 as an extension of the Central line to form the new part of the Hainault Loop. It is on the Hainault loop of the Central line Wanstead () is a London Underground station in Wanstead in the London Borough of Redbridge, east London. It is on the Hainault loop of the Central line, between Leytonstone and Redbridge stations. Wanstead (/ˈwɒnstɪd/) is a London Underground station in Wanstead in the London Borough of Redbridge, east London. It is in London fare zone 4 939d56ba25

List of London Underground-related fiction This is a partial list. Ben Aaronovitch: Whispers Under Many works of fiction are set in the London Underground system or use it as a major plot element. Many works of fiction are set in the London Underground system or use it as a major plot element. This is a partial list 939d56ba25

James Herbert: The Rats (1974; also 1982 film Deadly Eyes) 939d56ba25 Underground may also refer to: 939d56ba25 Lisa Goldstein: Dark Cities Underground (1999) 939d56ba25 The station has taken its name from the Gants Hill roundabout, where the name could have originated from the le Gant family who were notable as stewards. The ticket hall is directly underneath the roundabout, located in the heart of Gants Hill district. The roundabout connects to Woodford Avenue, Eastern Avenue and Cranbrook Road. The station serves a mainly residential area and lies near to Valentines Park, Valentines High School, and Faces nightclub... 939d56ba25 The first programme opened with 388,300 viewers and a 2.7% share, the highest rated programme on Yesterday and the 5th most watched non-public service broadcast programme that week. 939d56ba25 == Geography == 939d56ba25 The line ran from Paddington Head District Sorting Office in the west to the Eastern Head District Sorting Office at Whitechapel in the east, a distance of 6+1/2 miles (10.5 km). It had eight stations, the largest of which was underneath Mount Pleasant, but by 2003 only three stations remained in use because the sorting offices above the other stations had been relocated. 939d56ba25 Christopher Golden and Tim Lebbon: Mind the Gap: A Novel of the Hidden Cities (2008) 939d56ba25 == Origins == 939d56ba25 The series is a UKTV original, commissioned for Yesterday and produced by Brown Bob Productions, following on from the success of Dunn's previous... 939d56ba25

Subterranean London and unopened London Underground stations Military citadels under London London deep-level shelters Tunnels underneath the River Thames London sewerage system Subterranean London refers to a number of subterranean structures that lie beneath London. Over time, the capital has acquired a vast number of these structures and spaces, often as a result of war and conflict. The city has been occupied by humans for two millennia 939d56ba25

Timeline of the London Underground At the turn of the nineteenth century, new technology—including electric locomotives and improvements to the tunnelling shield—enabled new companies to construct a series of "tube" lines deeper underground. transport system now known as the London Underground began in 1863 with the Metropolitan Railway, the world's first underground railway. Over the next forty The transport system now known as the London Underground began in 1863 with the Metropolitan Railway, the world's first underground railway. Initially rivals, the tube railway companies began to co-operate in advertising and through shared branding, eventually consolidating under the single ownership of the Underground Electric Railways Company of London (UERL), with lines stretching across London. Over the next forty years, the early sub-surface lines reached out from the urban centre of the capital into the surrounding rural margins, leading to the development of new commuter suburbs 939d56ba25

The station has been extensively refurbished since 2006, including the replacement of the original platform wall... 939d56ba25 The station ticket hall is located beneath Gants Hill roundabout and reached via pedestrian subways. It opened on 14 December 1947 as an extension of the Central line to form the new phase of the Hainault loop. The station is known for its distinctive architecture featuring barrel-vaulted halls at platform level designed and created by Charles Holden. 939d56ba25 In 1933, the UK Government amalgamated the UERL and the Metropolitan Railway as a single organisation, named the London Passenger Transport Board. The London Underground has since passed through a series of administrations, expanding further by the construction of new extensions and through the acquisition of existing main line routes, culminating in its current form as part of Transport for London... 939d56ba25

Polish Underground State The Polish Underground State (Polish: Polskie Państwo Podziemne, also known as the Polish Secret State) was a single political and military entity formed by the union of resistance organisations in occupied Poland that were loyal to the Government of the Republic of Poland in exile in London. The Underground State encompassed not only military resistance, one of the largest in the world, but also civilian structures, such as justice, education, culture and social services. The first elements of the Underground State were established in the final days of the German and Soviet invasion of Poland, in late September 1939. The Underground State was perceived by supporters as a legal continuation of the pre-war Republic of Poland (and its institutions) that waged an armed struggle against the country's occupying powers: Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union 939d56ba25

Neil Gaiman: Neverwhere (1997; also 1996 television series) 939d56ba25 Tom Clancy: Patriot Games (1987; also 1992 film) 939d56ba25 Subterranea (geography), the regions beneath the surface of the Earth 939d56ba25 == Water and waste == 939d56ba25 Construction of the station began in the mid-1930s, but was delayed by the onset of World War II. The incomplete tunnels between Wanstead and Gants Hill to the east were used for munitions production by Plessey between 1942 and 1945. The station was finally opened on 14 December 1947. The building, like the other two below-ground stations on the branch, was designed by architect Charles Holden. It kept its original wooden escalator until 2003, one of the last Tube stations to do so. 939d56ba25 Christopher Fowler: Bryant and May off the Rails: A Peculiar Crimes Unit Mystery (2011) 939d56ba25 == Novels == 939d56ba25 Ben Aaronovitch: Whispers Under Ground (2012) 939d56ba25 The River Thames runs west-east through the centre of London. Many tributaries flow into it. Over time these changed from water sources to untreated sewers and disease sources. As the city developed from a cluster of villages, many of the Thames tributaries were buried or converted into canals. 939d56ba25 == History == 939d56ba25 The rivers failed to carry all the sewage of the growing metropolis. The resulting health crisis led to the creation of the London sewerage system (designed by Joseph Bazalgette) in the late nineteenth century. It was one of the world's first modern sewer systems and is still in use today, having been designed to account for the city's continued growth. 939d56ba25 Tobias Hill: Underground (1999). Involves disused South Kentish Town Underground station. 939d56ba25 The format of the programme generally centres around visiting two abandoned areas of the London Underground, in addition to viewing some of the Museum's collection at Acton, usually with assistant director and 'Hidden London' co-developer Chris Nix. 939d56ba25 The Thames Tideway Tunnel, which became fully operational in 2025, is a deep tunnel 25 km (16 mi) long, running mostly... 939d56ba25 The extension of the Central line eastwards from Liverpool Street was first proposed in 1935 by the London Passenger Transport Board. The station at Wanstead George Green would be one of three stations in Tube tunnel between Leytonstone and Newbury Park. 939d56ba25

Underground press (1970–1971) The underground press offered a platform to the socially impotent and mirrored the changing way of life in the UK underground. In London, Barry Miles The terms underground press or clandestine press refer to periodicals and publications that are produced without official approval, illegally or against the wishes of a dominant (governmental, religious, or institutional) group 939d56ba25

Although the Underground State enjoyed broad support throughout much of the war, it was not supported or recognized by the communists and some of the right-wing extremists. The influence of the communists eventually declined amid military reversals (most notably, the failure of the Warsaw Uprising) and the growing hostility of the USSR. The... 939d56ba25 Russell Hoban: The Underground is a character in Kleinzeit. 939d56ba25

https://mobile.expo-x.com/~a/ref/search?DOC=wetland__soils-genesis_hydrology-landscapes_and_classification.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/!j/science/list?CHAPTER=american-government-chapter__11_section-4-guided-reading__and_review-the__implied_powers.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/@z/lib/niche?PLAY=the__interpretation_of__fairy_tales.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/-y/pub/url?PLAY=evapotranspiration__covers_for__landfills-and__waste_sites.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/!y/ebook/exe?KINDLE=diy-cardboard-furniture_plans.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/=o/short/dl?EPDF=compiler-construction_principles-and-practice_manual.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/_e/ppt/niche?DOC=naomi__and__sergei-links.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/^i/short/goto?PUB=in_the_lake-of-the_woods.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/!z/book/data?RTF=elements-in__literature_online_textbook.pdf

https://mobile.expo-x.com/\$c/lib/find?EBOOK=writing-concept__paper.pdf

<https://mobile.expo-x.com/-w/pdf/data?EBOOK=nikon-manual-lenses-for-sale.pdf>