== Plot == Identified == Based loosely on the films The Mummy and The Mummy Returns, the series' plot follows the O'Connells who are pursued on their journey around the world by the undead corrupt High Priest, Imhotep, and his lackey, Colin Weasler, while trying to get the Manacle of Osiris off Alex's wrist. This leads them to seek the lost scrolls of Thebes, the only things that can remove the manacle and which must be destroyed to prevent Imhotep from possessing the manacle. In the series' second season, Alex is trained as a Medjai to combat the mummy, facing new threats along the way. pharaoh The curse of the pharaohs or the mummy's curse or the Curse of King Tut is a curse alleged to be cast upon anyone who disturbs the mummy of an ancient Egyptian, especially a pharaoh. Since the mid-20th century, many authors and documentaries have argued that the curse is 'real' in the sense of having scientifically explicable causes such as bacteria, fungi or radiation. However, the modern origins of Egyptian mummy curse tales, their development primarily in European cultures, the shift from magic to science to explain curses, and their changing uses—from condemning disturbance of the dead to entertaining horror film audiences—suggest that Egyptian curses are primarily a cultural, not scientific, phenomenon 5a48effe99

The concept was later revived as House of Frankenstein. Filming began on April 4, 1944, with the highest budget for a Universal Frankenstein film at that time, and ended in early May. Screenings started in New York City on December 15, 1944. It was not among the highest-grossing films for Universal that year, but it managed to make more money than other Universal horror-related output such as Ghost Catchers (1944) and The Invisible Man's Revenge (1944). Edmontosaurus mummy AMNH 5060 It is ascribed to the species Edmontosaurus annectens (originally known as Trachodon annectens), a hadrosaurid ("duck-billed dinosaur"). Discovered in 1908 in the United States near Lusk, Wyoming, it was the first dinosaur specimen to be found encased in skin impressions. Today, the mummy is considered one of the most important fossils. The mummy was found and excavated by fossil hunter

Charles Hazelius Sternberg and his three sons in the Lance Formation. Osborn described the fossil in detail in 1912, coining the name dinosaur mummy for it—several dinosaur mummies of similar preservation have been discovered since then. Skin impressions found in between the fingers were initially interpreted as webbing, bolstering the now-rejected perception of hadrosaurids as aquatic animals. This specimen has considerably influenced the scientific conception of hadrosaurids 5a48effe99
