Et je reverrai cette ville étrange Quelques mélodies sont inscrites dans le silence, dans la continuité du temps — Cette œuvre Et je reverrai cette ville étrange (English: And I will see this strange city again) is a 1981 work for chamber ensemble by Canadian composer Claude Vivier. Musicologists generally view this piece as one of the apexes of his timbral concept, jeux de couleurs. It is an extreme manifestation of monody, with all instruments playing in unison with a continuous melodic line throughout the piece. de mon goût pour les histoires du passé, mes propres histoires

Baudelaire mentions he had read Aloysius Bertrand's Gaspard de la nuit (considered the first example of prose poetry) at least twenty times before starting this work. Though inspired by Bertrand, Baudelaire's prose poems were based on Parisian contemporary life instead of the medieval background which Bertrand employed. He said of his work: "These are the flowers of evil again, but with more freedom, much more detail, and much more mockery." Indeed, many of the themes and even titles from Baudelaire's earlier collection Les Fleurs du mal are...
