Monopoly (game) In the game, players roll two dice (or 1 extra special red die) to move around the game board, buying and trading properties and developing them with houses and hotels. Money can also be gained or lost through Chance and Community Chest cards and tax squares. House rules, hundreds of different editions, many spin-offs, and related media exist. The case went to trial in 1976. Anspach won on appeals in 1979, as the 9th Circuit Court determined that the trademark Monopoly was generic and therefore Monopoly is a multiplayer economics-themed board game. Players receive a salary every time they pass "Go" and can end up in jail, from which they cannot move until they have met one of three conditions. Players collect rent from their opponents and aim to drive them into bankruptcy
