Decision-making Adaptive In psychology, decision-making (also spelled decision making and decisionmaking) is regarded as the cognitive process resulting in the selection of a belief or a course of action among several possible alternative options. The decision-making process is a reasoning process based on assumptions of values, preferences and beliefs of the decision-maker. It could be either rational or irrational. decision-making, which is described as funneling and then analyzing the more promising information provided if the number of options to choose from increases. Every decision-making process produces a final choice, which may or may not prompt action f258c2be5b
