Gender inequality in Honduras Gender inequality in Honduras has seen improvements in some areas regarding gender inequality, while others have regressed towards further inequality since Gender inequality in Honduras has seen improvements in some areas regarding gender inequality, while others have regressed towards further inequality since in 1980s. Comparing numbers from the 2011 and 2019 United Nations Human Development Reports helps to understand how gender inequality has been trending in Honduras. In the 2019 Human Development Report Honduras dropped to 132nd out of 189 countries in the rankings. In the 2011 Human Development Report rankings for the Gender Inequality Index, Honduras ranked 121st out of 187 countries. As the country's overall ranking dropped, it indicates that progress towards gender equality is not being made on the same level as other countries around the world

The assignment is a direct analogy with male and female genitalia. The part bearing one or more protrusions, or which fits inside the other, is designated male, while the one with the corresponding indentations, or fitting outside the other, is designated female. Extension of the analogy results in the verb to mate being used to describe the process of connecting two corresponding parts together.
