Human rights in the Islamic Republic of Iran The United Nations General Assembly and the Human Rights Commission The state of human rights in the Islamic Republic of Iran has been regarded as very poor. Capital punishment in Iran remains a matter of international concern. The state of human rights in the Islamic Republic of Iran has been regarded as very poor. The United Nations General Assembly and the Human Rights Commission have condemned prior and ongoing abuses in Iran in published critiques and several resolutions. The government is criticized both for restrictions and punishments that follow the Islamic Republic's constitution and law, and for "extrajudicial" actions by state actors, such as the torture, rape, and killing of political prisoners, and the beatings and killings of dissidents and other civilians fe7cec5fa6

Race (human categorization) (1994). Lay summary Archived 2 February 2022 at the Wayback Race is a categorization of humans based on shared physical or social qualities into groups generally viewed as distinct within a given society. By the 17th century, the term began to refer to physical (phenotypical) traits, and then later to national affiliations. The History and Geography of Human Genes. While partly based on physical similarities within groups, race does not have an inherent physical or biological meaning. Modern science regards race as a social construct, an identity which is assigned based on rules made by society. The term came into common usage during the 16th century, when it was used to refer to groups of various kinds, including those characterized by close kinship relations. ISBN 978-0-691-08750-4. The concept of race is foundational to racism, the belief that humans can be divided based on the superiority of one race over another. Princeton University Press fe7cec5fa6

The criticism generally falls into the category of alleged bias, frequently in response to critical HRW reports. Bias allegations include the organization's being influenced by United States government policy, particularly in relation to reporting on Yugoslavia, Latin America, and the misrepresentation of human-rights issues in Eritrea and Ethiopia. Accusations in relation to the Arab-Israeli conflict include claims that HRW is biased against Israel.
