Orbit of the Moon not offset the shared heliocentric velocity with the primary, transferring velocity, by adding and subtracting velocity unevenly during oscillation. Most models describe the Moon's orbit geocentrically since the Moon is mainly bound to Earth, but it also orbits together with Earth, as the Earth-Moon system, around their shared barycenter. Furthermore from a heliocentric view its geocentric orbit is the result of Earth perturbing the Moon's orbit around the Sun. 5 days (a synodic month).
