During the early modern period in England, and sometimes elsewhere, the figure of a man dressed in a foliage costume, and usually carrying a club, was a variant of the broader European motif of the Wild Man (also known as wild man of the woods, or woodwose). By at least the 16th century, the term "green man" was used in England for a man who was covered in leaves, foliage including moss as part of a pageant, parade or ritual, who often was the whiffler (a person who clears a path or space through the crowd for a parade or performance). From the 17th century, such figures were used for the names of pubs, and painted on their signs. 1a47e1d76c == Life == 1a47e1d76c == Modern "Wild Man" version == 1a47e1d76c Caldecott was educated at Eton and read history at New College, Oxford (1970–73).
