Animal mummy Bastet, the cat goddess, is an example of one such deity. Many different types of animals were mummified, typically for four main purposes: to allow people's beloved pets to go on to the afterlife, to provide food in the afterlife, to act as offerings to a particular god, and because some were seen as physical manifestations of specific deities that the Egyptians worshipped. Animals were an important part of Egyptian culture, not only in their role as food and pets, but also for religious reasons. In 1888, an Egyptian farmer digging in the sand near Istabl Antar discovered a mass grave of felines, ancient cats that were mummified and buried in pits at great numbers. Animals were an important part of Egyptian culture, not only in their role as food and pets, but also Animal mummification was common in ancient Egypt.
