Education in Uganda Rural-Urban Digital Divide, and the Prospects for GIS in Schools"; International Perspectives on Teaching and Learning with GIS in Secondary Schools, Springer The system of education in Uganda has a structure of 7 years of primary education, 6 years of secondary education (divided into 4 years of lower secondary and 2 years of upper secondary school), and 3 to 5 years of post-secondary education. The government of Uganda recognizes education as a basic human right and continues to strive to provide free primary education to all children in the country. Education in Uganda is administered in English. However, issues with funding, teacher training, rural populations, and inadequate facilities continue to hinder the progress of educational development in Uganda. More girls in Uganda complete primary school than boys (54% for girls versus 52% for boys). All throughout the levels in the education structure, modules are taught and assessed in English
