Ports of entry of China In China, ports of entry (POE) (Chinese: 口岸; pinyin: kǒu'àn; lit. 'shore mouths') are the lawful points of entry and exit from the country for freight and passengers. POEs are created by the State Council or by provincial governments. They are legally distinct from transportation facilities; for example, the Tianjin Water Transport Port of Entry (Chinese: 天津港) is distinct from Tianjin Port (Chinese: 天津). These include seaports, inland ports, airports, railway stations, and border crossings.
