Building information modeling BIM is supported by various tools, processes, technologies and contracts. opportunities", in K. Peng, Practical BIM 2012 - Management, Implementation, Coordination and Evaluation, Los Angeles Quirk, Vanessa (7 December Building information modeling (BIM) is an approach involving the generation and management of digital representations of the physical and functional characteristics of buildings or other physical assets and facilities. Building information models (BIMs) are computer files (often but not always in proprietary formats and containing proprietary data) which can be extracted, exchanged or networked to support decision-making regarding a built asset. BIM software is used by individuals, businesses and government agencies who plan, design, construct, operate and maintain buildings and diverse physical infrastructures, such as water, refuse, electricity, gas, communication utilities, roads, railways, bridges, ports and tunnels.
