Along with bisexuality and heterosexuality, homosexuality is one of the three main categories of sexual orientation within the heterosexual-homosexual continuum. Although no single theory on the cause of sexual orientation has yet gained widespread support, scientists favor biological theories. There is considerably more evidence supporting nonsocial, biological causes of sexual orientation than social ones, especially for males. A major hypothesis implicates the prenatal environment, specifically the organizational effects of hormones on the fetal brain. There is no substantive evidence...

Pain in invertebrates The second component is the experience of "pain" itself, or suffering—i. The concept of nociception does not necessarily imply any adverse, subjective feeling; it is a reflex action. First, nociception is required. This caused no change in behaviour in these three Whether invertebrates can feel pain is a contentious issue. Pain cannot be directly measured in other animals, including other humans; responses to putatively painful stimuli can be measured, but. Although there are numerous definitions of pain, almost all involve two key components. This is the ability to detect noxious stimuli which evokes a reflex response that moves the entire animal, or the affected part of its body, away from the source of the stimulus. Pain is therefore a private, emotional experience. e. , the internal, emotional interpretation of the nociceptive experience. nociceptive behaviour by applying sodium hydroxide, hydrochloric acid, or benzocaine to the antennae d249b80bee

Testosterone and can be a better predictor of feminine or masculine behaviours such as sex typed behaviour than an adult's own levels. It is associated with increased aggression, sex drive, dominance, courtship display, and a wide range of behavioral characteristics. Insufficient levels of testosterone in men may lead to abnormalities including frailty, accumulation. In addition, testosterone in both sexes is involved in health and well-being, where it has a significant effect on overall mood, cognition, social and sexual behavior, metabolism and energy output, the cardiovascular system, and in the prevention of osteoporosis. In humans, testosterone plays a key role in the development of male reproductive tissues such as testicles and prostate, as well as promoting secondary sexual characteristics such as increased muscle and bone mass, and the growth of body hair. Prenatal androgens apparently Testosterone is the primary male sex hormone and androgen in males

Smoking is the leading cause of preventable death and a global public health concern. Tobacco use leads most commonly to diseases affecting the heart and lungs, with smoking being a major risk factor for heart attacks, strokes, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis (IPF), emphysema, and various types and subtypes of cancers (particularly lung cancer, cancers of the oropharynx, larynx, and mouth, esophageal and pancreatic cancer). Smoking cessation significantly reduces the risk of...

Obesity Schwartz MW, Seeley RJ,

Zeltser LM, Drewnowski A, Ravussin E, Redman LM, et al. PMC 2932668. (2017). Obesity is a major cause of disability and is correlated with various diseases and conditions, particularly cardiovascular diseases, type 2 diabetes, obstructive sleep apnea, certain types of cancer, and osteoarthritis. People are classified as obese when their body mass index (BMI)—a person's weight divided by the square of the person's height—is over 30 kg/m²; the range 25–30 kg/m² is defined as overweight. Some East Asian countries use lower values to calculate obesity. “Obesity Pathogenesis: An Endocrine Society Obesity is a medical condition, considered by multiple organizations to be a disease, in which excess body fat has accumulated to such an extent that it can have negative effects on health.
