Nonviolence Failure to distinguish between the two types of nonviolent approaches can lead to distortion in the concept's meaning and effectiveness, which can subsequently result in confusion among the audience. Although both principled and pragmatic nonviolent approaches preach for nonviolence, they may have distinct motives, goals, philosophies, and techniques. Failure to distinguish between the two types of nonviolent Nonviolence is the personal practice of not causing harm to others under any condition. However, rather than debating the best practice between the moral, religious or spiritual principles, or the reasons for it may be strategic or pragmatic. It may be based on moral, religious or spiritual principles, or the reasons for it may be strategic or pragmatic. It may come from the belief that hurting people, animals and/or the environment is unnecessary to achieve an outcome and it may refer to a general philosophy of abstention from violence 9d366981f5
