Kirnberger's tuning systems, or well temperaments are a way to artificially splice together two arcs on the "natural" spiral of fifths to turn it into an "unnatural" circle. In Kirnberger's and his teacher Bach's time, keyboard musicians were experimenting with different unobtrusive ways to alter the spacing of notes around the spiral of fifths to close it into a circle, so that every note needed for every key was at hand, even if some rarely used key signatures might be very dissonant, but tolerable. aa83623e87
