Scientific plagiarism in India However, no fixed route has been prescribed to monitor such activities. India does not have a statutory body to deal with scientific misconduct in academia, like the Office of Research Integrity in the US, and hence cases of plagiarism are often dealt in ad-hoc fashion with different routes being followed in different cases. This has led to calls for establishment of an independent ethics body. slams-iits-for-handling-of-plagiarism-cases/701967/ Hindustan Times Chawla Shashi (2010). Plagiarists have in some cases been suspended, removed or demoted. In most cases, a public and media outcry leads to an investigation either by institutional authorities or by independent enquiry committees.
