

Training Manual For Kitchen Staff

Butler household without an official head housekeeper, female servants and kitchen staff were also directly under the butler’s management, while in smaller households A butler is a person who works in a house serving and is a domestic worker in a large household. He can also sometimes function as a chauffeur. Some also have charge of the entire parlour floor and housekeepers caring for the entire house and its appearance. A butler is usually male and in charge of male servants, while a housekeeper is usually female and in charge of female servants. The butler, as the senior male servant, has the highest servant status. Traditionally, male servants (such as footmen) were better-paid and of higher status than female servants. In great houses, the household is sometimes divided into departments, with the butler in charge of the dining room, wine cellar, and pantry 5fb3d70429

Nursemaid A family wealthy enough to have multiple servants looking after the children would have a large domestic staff, traditionally within a strict hierarchy, and a large house (or possibly several, such as the townhouse and country house) with nursery quarters. By reason of their close involvement A nursemaid (or nursery maid) is a mostly historical term for a female domestic worker who cares for children within a large household. The term implies that she is an assistant to an older and more experienced employee, a role usually known as nurse or nanny. agencies supplied nursery maids and sometimes gave basic training, for which popular manuals were also published 5fb3d70429
