Law State-enforced laws can be made by a legislature, resulting in statutes; by the executive through decrees and regulations; or by judges' decisions, which form precedent in common law jurisdictions. " has no simple answer. law. The law shapes politics, economics, history and society in various ways and also serves as a mediator of relations between people. Glanville Williams said that the meaning of the word "law" depends on the context in which that word is used. The creation of laws themselves may be influenced by a constitution, written or tacit, and the rights encoded therein. An autocrat may exercise those functions within their realm. It has been variously described as a science and as the art of justice. He said that Law is a set of rules that are created and are enforceable by social or governmental
